

Children's Choice Comanche

Monthly Newsletter

Due to the unseasonably warm weather, we were able to do a lot of fun outdoor activities in November. The highlight of the month however, was family night. We all enjoyed eating delicious Thanksgiving food and getting to spend extra time with each other and our families. It was a great way to kick off the holiday season and we are looking forward to holiday related activities in December.

Parachute Party

We were all excited to pull out the parachute and play games. Our favorite game was Mushroom Tag where we lifted the parachute as high as we could and brought it down behind our backs. We then called out a month and the children whose birthdays were in the month had to switch places before the mushroom collapsed.

Expert Explosions

We have spent a lot of time learning about chemical reactions at Comanche, but this student led activity allowed the kids to share their own chemistry knowledge. After forming a hypothesis, the kids took turns mixing different ingredients and compared the reactions.

Cubby Surprise

After Comanche's pet rock, Cubby, had a fatal fall we were surprised to learn that Cubby had left us mini Cubbies to care for. The kids got to name, dress, and feed their mini Cubbies as well as build a suitable habitat.

Here's What's Happening in December:

- Obstacle Course-In the Gym, the kids will work together to create a giant obstacle course
- Swing Set Slingshot-Another great opportunity for learning about physical science, the kids will build their own super slingshot on the playground.
- Hello Holidays-We will celebrate the holidays at Children's choice with interesting food creations, holiday character exploration and building our own community tree.

Pumpkin Turkey Emojis

This fall activity encouraged the kids to use their imagination and creativity. Using foam pumpkins as a base, the kids first attached turkey heads that they had drawn and then added googly eyes to give it an Emoji appearance.
