VOTE!

The elections were a hot topic last week. The students were sent youtube links about voting and elections. The book, Grace for President, was a popular choice.

The kids were anxious to talk about it and curious about who all of the staff were voting for? The staff were very careful about the discussions, reminding the kids that Ballots are secret! We were glad to see so much curiosity and enthusiasm about voting!

The Biggest Hole – Can You Dig It?

Maintaining our social distance, we took turns digging to make the biggest hole.

“We dug the biggest hole, and it was so hard!” Ari (6)

What made it so hard to dig?

It was hard digging when there was a rock in the way. -Soledad, 7

It's hard when we dig separate instead of together. It feels like really hard clay, but bumpy, like a rock. - Jay, 7

I use my nails to dig better but accidently broke a nail. If we had the right tools, we could dig so much faster and deeper. - Nola, 10

We hit the bottom and we think it could be a big rock, concrete, or really hard clay! -Annie, 7

I call them the Social Distancing Paleontologists - Shyanne
