An Ode To The Fifth Graders

As we wrap up the lessons and you prepare for the next phase of life, you will leave your younger peers behind. But remember, your imagination and curiosity will guide you in the years to come.
You all grew and became empowered even after being muted and masked.
You found a lane all of your own.

The most skippidiest rizzler
of lanes.

You will continue to learn and grow but will keep the lessons learned at Bandelier deep in your heart.

You taught us so much as a community and while we are sad to not see you everyday, we are excited about your futures.
Thank you for being apart
of us.

We look forward to Celebrating YPU Class of 2032!

Pool Noodle Puppets!

Kelsey ran a special puppet club one day. He and the kids took pool noodles and turned them into puppets with personality. Kate was very excited to give hers a unibrow. She thought the unibrow really brought him to life and gave him a personality. Oscar introduced his creations, Tim and Timmy to the entire community as he grinned from ear to ear.

Kids worked for the next three days creating and designing their puppets. Some used craft sticks as teeth and others carved into their noodle. Everyone creating their own puppet filled with personality!

"Mine looks like he would be funny"
-Harry

"Timmy and his brother
Tim"
Oscar S

"I do not want anyone to copy the
unibrow i gave mine"
-Kate

The Floor is Lava!

Layla's Yoga Club is always filled with learning new poses and listening to our body! One yoga class, body's were particularly wiggly so she created the yogi's floor is lava. Using Yoga moves learned and their yoga mats they played and practiced. They giggled as they discovered new ways to cross the lava with a new move or even one legged. They ended with some more stretches and a Shavasana well deserved.
