Yer a Wizard, Cass!

"Hi, my name is Cass. I am 10 years old, and I drew the Skittles picture eating Skittles."

"I drew the portrait so people could feel not left out in art. It made me feel included because I put my own hard work into it so that everyone can see."

"I made Skittles eating Skittles because it came up to my mind. It looked really cool in my head, and when I finally drew it, it was cool. It turned out really good in the end."

"I used red, green, blue and pink for my canvas because axolotls are pink. I use pink for the background and Skittles were flying everywhere!"

DIY... Whatever?

“What are we doing? Can we just make whatever?” Zack, 10

Sure, why not! (The original plan was to make tic, tac, toe pieces.)

“Can I make a mushroom cow?” Astrid, 8

Little mushrooms and cow pieces sound adorable! Plot twist... the kids entirely ditched the tic, tac, toe plan and were creating whatever!

“Look at how creepy my bug looks! How do I get it off?” Bobby, 7 about to turn 8.. actually 8

“You just peel it off!” Luna, 6

Some kids found a little magic in their creations.

“Magic is in these trees.” Luna, 6

Others chose to just enjoy the squishy, soft texture of the model magic, and that was okay too.

“I don’t want to make anything. I just want to squish it around.” Sebastian, 6

Things don’t always go as planned at CC, but were definitely make the best of it!

Wizard Hoops

Everyone knows that a good Thunder Wizard would not go anywhere without their special thunderbolts!

“I want the red noodle... for fire!” Atticus, 6

These Thunder Wizards are crafty and creative.

“I made both my bolts.” Marcel, 6

They know which thunderbolts they need and when to use them! Not everyone needs to be a Thunder Wizard.

“This purple thunderbolt makes clouds, and the blue one makes water.” Cassidy, 6

We need Target Training Wizards too!

“I didn’t hit any targets.” Ezra, 6

Target Training Wizards have the important job of making the targets a challenge for the practicing Thunder Wizards.

“I want to be a target wizard! Try it now!” Nano, 7

Target Training Wizards and Thunder Wizards work together! You can’t have one set of wizards succeed without the other wizards. All afternoon long Thunder Wizards turned into Target Wizards, and Target Wizards became Thunder Wizards!
