JACOB'S STORY

Last spring, Jacob, 8, set out to write a story about his birth and early childhood. He was then inspired to create a fictional story where he was the main character on an adventure with his trusty dragon called "Jacob and the Dragon." Jacob told me "I felt a little scared to try something new," but he embraced his fear and showcased his book at the CC celebration. "I felt very proud of myself" he told me and that he spent summer continuing to work on realistic books of his life but enjoys writing fiction more. As the new school year started, Jacob was ready to get back to writing his next book, "Jacob Saves the Galaxy," and had many new ideas! For his new book, Jacob says, "I wanted to add Pokemon because it's one of my true favorite things!" Stay tuned for his newest release and our continued exploration into creative writing at Osuna.

JEWELRY CLUB

The first jewelry club meeting of the year was a hit. During the earring activity, the children had an opportunity to be creative, practice using different tools, and make something meaningful for themselves or others. Many of the children enjoyed the hands-on experience and being able to create something special. Weston, 10, shared, "It's fun because I get to make earrings for my mom." Christina, 6, explained, "I don't have those things (ear piercings) so I made them for my mom, I really liked making the little cherries." Arelyanna, 8, also expressed how much she enjoyed creating for others, saying, "I get to make stuff for other people; it makes me really happy." Mia, 6, especially enjoyed using the tools, saying, "I like using the pliers," and Esperanza, 10, shared, "I like doing things with my hands." The children also expressed ideas about how to make the activity more enjoyable, such as, "I want more charms" and "We want clip-on earrings." One child commented, "I wish there were not so many kids," suggesting that having a smaller group may have made it easier to participate and focus. Overall, the activity encouraged creativity, fine-motor skills, self-expression, and the joy of making something thoughtful for others.

HI ENZO AND AVERY!

Hi, my name is Lorenzo. I am in third grade.

Hello, my name is Avery and I am in third grade.

Enzo: I picked out a Bonsai tree because I liked it, and I think everyone else would like it. We're in Lego club, and everybody was like was having a hard time picking out Lego sets, so me and my friend Avery went to pick one for everyone. We picked a Bonsai tree, and everyone had to agree, and so I looked at the back, and it was pink! There was a girl in the group, and she really liked pink, and she didn't want to build all the vehicles we had, so I found the Bonsai tree and I picked it because it had pink on it. I picked it, and I showed it to everyone, and they all liked it, and we all got to agree!

Avery: We can also build the Bonsai tree and then sell it because we can get our money back to get more Lego sets!
