THE ROADRUNNER REPORT

POPSICLE STICK RACES

Rainy days make the perfect time for popsicle stick races! When the water started rushing down our little ramp, the kids grabbed their racers and sent them flying downstream. Yassier discovered the most exciting part was the bridge:

"The popsicle sticks get lost for a bit under the bridge! I find them after like a minute!"

Malakai carefully chose his racer, saying, "I want a green one cause they go the fastest!" And Nyx summed up the rainy-day fun perfectly: "This is the best day ever! I love the rain!"

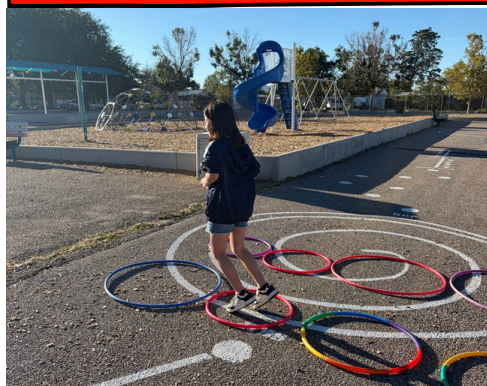

RELAY RACES

The playground became a racecourse when Jaxon led the kids in relay races! After a couple of practice rounds, Eli noticed some of the younger kids needed a little help. "We tried it a couple times, but then I went first cause some of the younger kids were getting confused about where to go. I showed them."

Everyone found a way to take on the course. Areus shared, "I couldn't do the monkey bars, so I did 5 jumping jacks. I was good at those." The kids also did a great job cheering each other on.

Nia was impressed by one speedy opponent, saying, "I said good job to Josiah cause he was fast. Very fast."

THE ROADRUNNER REPORT

At Children's Choice, Thu says her favorite thing to do is her weekly homework, especially when she gets to do tic-tac-toe! At home, she loves spending time on her phone and playing Roblox. On the weekends, you might find her going out to restaurants or visiting the park.

Thu's favorite food is sushi—especially avocado rolls! For dessert, she'd pick coffee ice cream. Her favorite show is Walk the Prank, because she loves watching them prank real people.

This school year, Thu is most excited to learn more things. If she could have any superpower, she'd choose mind control, and her favorite animal is a cat —because she has one of her own!

MEGA MARKET

Mega Market is about much more than making things to sell! Our kids are learning what it takes to turn an idea into a real business. They've created their initial business proposals, made supply lists, researched costs, and calculated how much it will cost to make each product.

Seniaah is putting these skills to work with her Halloween squishies, Eli is planning an egg and smoothie store, and Jordan is creating a lemonade stand. As we move into production, the kids will learn about budgeting, pricing, profit, problem-solving, and decision-making as they figure out how much to charge for their products.

Mega Market gives our kids a hands-on way to practice real-world math and money skills while getting creative and building something of their own!
