Hoop It Up

The kids have been learning some new skills in basketball. They come up with some plays and practice running them against each other. They are also learning more about the importance of sportsmanship and what it feels like to work as a team. “Basketball club is my favorite club. I wish we could do it every day!” expressed Xavier.

Soccer

Soccer games at Inez are always popular and filled with excitement. We split the kids into two teams according to their jersey colors. “I want to be the goalie!” shouted Michael and Dale. They both practiced kicking the ball to each other and stopping it. Elias and Aaron played the whole afternoon, and Aaron scored a big goal. Yensi asked for a “professional” photo like a real soccer player. There was lots of support and encouragement from the kids and it was a great game.

Face Painting Friday

A fun, simple activity turned into a new tradition for us at Inez. We started off with just wanting to do simple face paintings and that brought out the interest in Halloween and practicing their Halloween looks, so for the month of October, we will have Face Paint Fridays as our theme. Kathy and some of our 4th graders helped with the face painting. The kids enjoyed self-expression in the animals and creatures that they chose, and the helpers got to show off their mad painting skills. Each artist set up their workspace and had their clients line up for their turns. The kids' new identities immediately made them jump into character. Lyrianna was hopping around like a rabbit and Ben stomped around with dinosaur hands. While the kids were waiting, they chose creative designs together and bonded over admiring each other's transformations. Matthew wanted to be a zombie, so we painted his brain. "Don't actually cut me, okay?" Matthew laughed. "Look at what I chose! I'm a sugar skull." Bunny said as she admired her work in the mirror. "I'm really good at this. I should start a business!" said Athena

Martial Arts

We have been so excited to have this club start up again. Karen is the instructor for this, as it is her profession, along with working with kids. They began with a warm-up and talked about why it is important to prepare our bodies before exercising. Then they watched each movement carefully, practiced it, and learned increasingly complex combinations. It was exciting to see the strength and energy they brought to each one!

The children shared the equipment and used a training bag to practice striking safely. They also answered questions about what they were learning. To finish, they enjoyed a speed game where they tried to touch a partner's shoulder to earn points.

Milli, who is six years old, was especially enthusiastic. Even after the activity ended, she kept wanting to practice the movements she had learned. Danni listened attentively and shared an idea that captured the lesson well, "to get better at something, you need to practice it and keep going no matter what."
